The Subject of the lecture was, “Rural Problems in India, and Remedial Schemes”, while Dr. Anand Wagh, Director, Department of Lifelong Learning, was the keynote speaker.

While Dr. Anant Labhasethwar Trust, Director Dr. Anant Labhasethwar was the chief guest.

Dr. Wagh highlighted the Rural Problems of India farming sector particularly and particularly the problems of Maharashtra Agro sector. Agriculture is the main occupation in rural areas and is seen as a means of their livelihood. Earlier Farming was done in a traditional way till now, but after advent of Green Revolution farmers are using modern equipments, fertilizers, pesticides to produce in agriculture. As a result of which capital investment is increasing, but the agricultural produce has not getting proper and remunerative market price. Similarly, due to the presence of middlemen and brokers in the market, the traders by collusion, prices of agricultural commodities fall in the market, traders buy agricultural commodities at falling prices, consequently not much money comes into the hands of farmers, as a result of which they do not recover the money they have invested in agriculture. As a result, farmers become indebted, and get stuck in a cycle of debt. Similarly, agricultural inputs, like fertilizers, pesticides, equipments are so costly and expensive. The life of farmers comes under the trouble. While meeting many needs such as water problem, electricity problem, labor problem, education, health, farmers are more exploited by the market and money lenders, and even by the government.

However, it is important for the government to pay special attention to the agricultural sector to get out of such economic cycle. Dr. Anand Wagh expressed the opinion that the farmers should be provided fertilizers, seeds at subsidized rates, water, and electricity, proper market arrangements should be provided for fair prices for agricultural produces, similarly, they should be provided loans at low interest rate and when they needed.

Dr. Anant Labhasethwar has expressed his views on the agricultural business in America and the role of the government there. Farmers should be provided storage arrangements at government at their cost and expense. Industries should be established to process agricultural products, markets should be made available for the agricultural goods, Indian agricultural products have get a good price at the international level, for this purpose the government should take the initiative to enter the international market. For this purpose, farmers' companies should be established in the rural area. Further he expressed the opinion that the children of farmers should be given free Agricultural Education and training, they should be trained at national and international level knowledge about agro sector. The event was organized and directed by Dr Vilas Epper, Director, Maulana Abul Kalam Research Centre, and Prof Syed Azharuddin gave vote of thanks.
